

Teacher Research Groups

Who are they for?

All teaching staff, regardless of your career stage, role within school or the phase that you teach.

When and where will they be?

There will be four meetings spread throughout the year.

These meetings will be held as twilight session, from approximately 4pm to 5pm.

They will be held at a variety of schools across the Redhill College.

What will I need to do?

The four sessions will broadly follow the plan below:

Session 1

Engage in discussion about up-to-date information from credible sources about an area of interest. Consider the implications of this discussion in the context of your own setting.

Session 2

Work collaboratively with the group to set some agreed goals.

Start making an action plan of an activity you will carry out in your own school.

Session 3

Share a completed action plan with the group.

Discuss each other's plans and provide supportive critique.

Following this session, carry out your activity.

Session 4

Some members of the group will share the outcomes of their activity for discussion.

Consider the appropriate next steps either individually or for the group.

Following the completion of your activity, write a single side of A4 summary of what you did and what you learnt.

Delegates on existing TRGs have said:

"It was refreshing to have a different format, which allowed us to discuss things in more depth"

"I have really enjoyed being able to work with teachers from other schools, including having those from Primary and Secondary together"

What TRGs are running this year?

To book, please follow the links below or go to our website redhillacademytrust.org.uk/redhill-college

Diversity in the Classroom TRG - book here

Feedback TRG - book here

Explanation and modelling TRG - book here